Description

LOIC (Low Orbit Ion Cannon) is an app, written in C# and developed by praetox, that was used by Anonymous during Project Chanology. It attempts to DoS the target site by using all its bandwidth, sending TCP, UDP, or HTTP requests to the server until it crashes.

This comes with instructions on how to use it.

Please note the site will not go down right away. Don't start the program then be pissed off when you go to check the site and its still up. You need to wait until it gets overloaded.
